

VOLUNTARY ROLE: WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

Introduction

Volunteering as an England Boxing clubs & membership committee member, you will be actively supporting at one of the highest levels within the organisation, working centrally to drive improvements in how we do things. Committee members are responsible for encouraging participation in the sport of Boxing by means of education and training, and to improve the standards of safety in Boxing and competence of coaches in the sport.

This role provides a superb opportunity to learn more about organisational management at a national level and will provide you with an unrivalled network of contacts across England Boxing and beyond. The committee meets every other month, both virtually and face-to-face, sharing knowledge and engaging with the regional associations.

The committee reports directly to the England Boxing Board and is chaired by England Boxing director Anna Cain.

We are an inclusive organisation, and encourage applications for anyone, whether you're a member of England Boxing or not. Areas of expertise that we are looking for include people development, safeguarding (including from other sports), and development / QA of qualifications.
